JUBILANT OVER MAINE.

SOUND MONEY MEN HERE VASTLY EN-COURAGED.

Jubilation only mildly expresses the feeling which evailed at the Republican National Headquarters in this city yesterday. The tremendous Republican plurality in Maine was the topic of conversation hich was sure to come uppermost, and the were rung on it all day. Chairman Hanna of the Republican National Committee was not expected to return to this city before to-morrow, it as said. Garret A. Hobart was at the headquarters a good part of the day. He said to reporters;

I am deeply gratified over the result of the Thirty thousand had been the highest plurality I expected, and 50,000 was totally uneted. I regard it as an extremely good omen which shows that the people are thinking, and the hey think and study the less they see in the free-silver and Popocratic doctrines of the Chicago

The vote is particularly valu-able, because it indicates that the farmers are by committed to free silver."

The following message, which General Osborne had received from J. H. Manley, was read with much satisfaction:

much satisfaction:

The Republican party has achieved this day the most sweeping and magnificent victory ever accorded to any party in the history of Maine. We have carried every county in the State; elected every State Senator; at least 149 out of 151 members of the House of Representatives; secured every county officer; gave each member of a magnificent delegation in the National House of Representatives the largest majority he ever received, elected our candidate for Governor by the greatest majority ever given a candidate for that high office; indersed the St. Louis platform, and declared for McKinley and Hobbart by 20,000 majority. The Republican vote will exceed by several thousands the largest Republican vote heretofore given, and the vote given the Democratic vote ever cast with a single exception—the vote of 1854, which is several thousands less.

We have kept pace with Verment and proved to the country that the Democratic platform adopted at Chicago will not prevail when met by argument and reason. We have been aided in this great contest by many Democrats, who placed country above party, who believed that you could not divide the people into parties on a question of simple morals or common honesty. They share our victory with us. What more could Maine have tone for the cause of good government, honest money and protection?

Among the callers was John W. Verentelling to the cause of good government, honest money and protection?

Among the callers was John W. Vrooman, who was the Republican candidate for Lieutenant-Governor in this State in 1891. Mr. Vrooman expressed his gratification over the result in Maine as fol-"The question is now practically settled so as the East is concerned. THE MAYOR FULL OF CONFIDENCE.

there is hardly a Democrat in the district. Seth M. Milliken, of Deering, Milliken & Co., of No. 73 Leonard-st, said: "All the drygoods men who were unfortunate enough to have been Democrats are ow Republicans, and will aid in swelling the big Republican mejority in November. The result in Maine was of course assured, but the great plurality was somewhat astonishing and will go a long way to impress thousands of voters who are now doubtful. They nik of the doubtful States! Why, a correspondent in a Minnesota town writes me that out of the 24 voters in his town. 251 are for McKinley. There is nothing doubtful about that. Even in the of the 24 voters in his town. 251 are for McKinley. There is nothing doubtful about that. Even in the South the solid business men are for McKinley, and I doubt if many will waste their votes by casting them for Paimer and Buckner. Many Democrats who never before voted the Republican ticket will cast their bailors for McKinley and Hobart."

Eugene Sullivan, of Sullivan, Vail & Co., said: "We are all happy over the result of the fight in Maine. It removes all doubt as to the outcome of the fight in Mosenie in November. The assurance that McKinley will be elected will give merchants a wholesome respect for their stocks of goods and give them courage to do business. The assurance of McKinley's election will give manufacturers renewed courage and I can see good times ahead."

"I am not a Republican." said J. A. Tweedy, of the Tweedy & Co., "aithough my name was on the list of vice-presidents at to-day's Drygoods Men's Meeting, but I

"I am not a Republican." said J. A. Tweedy, of Lee, Tweedy & Co., "aithough my name was on the list of vice-presidents at to-day's Drygoods Men's Meeting, but I am heartly in favor of McKinley for President, and I believe that the election in Maine will do much to strengthen his candidacy. It will certainly have a stimulating effect on business in all branches. People see by it that there is little chance for the election of the Chicago ticket, and that must have a satisfactory effect."

Mr. Tweedy said that he believed that the merchants of New-York were unanimously in favor of the Republicae candidate, and it almost seemed a waste of material to hold meetings in the business district. "They should be held in such parts of the country," he said, "where people are still uninformed about the true issues, and then other States will do as well as Maine." Sigourney W. Fay, of Wendell, Fay & Co., was enthusiastic over the news from Maine. "Of course it means that Bryan will be wiped out," he said, "and that our factories and workshops will be opened once more. The news from Maine will bring encouragement to merchants and to manufacturers, because it is a sure forcrunner of McKinley's election.

"One of our Baltimore correspondents writes us o-day," he added, "that Maryland would fall in ine for McKinley, and with the news from Maine before us, we are ready to believe it." COMMENT OF FINANCIERS.

There was great satisfaction in financial circles over the result in Maine. Henry W. Cannon, president of the Chase National Bank and formerly Controller of the Currency, said: "The result shows that the Chicago platform is opposed not only by business men, but by farmers as well, and only by dushiess men, but by harmers as well, and that it was indorsed by merely a few perfunctory votes from the remnant of the Democratic party. Bryan, Sewall and Watson are clearly outside of both parties. It is rather remarkable that no prominent men of the Democratic party or any other party are willing to associate with them or approve them."

r party are whilm to associate who them rove them."
amund D. Randolph, president of the Continen-National Plank, said: "The result in Maine is st gratifying. It is doubly so from the fact that effects the degree to which the thinking men are anguable polities and voting solely in the inters of the public good. Judging from my correspondence with customers of the Continental Pank, a same process is at work throughout the countries of the promises to be productive of a like reiry, and it promises to be productive of a like result."

J. Edward Simmons, president of the Fourth National Bank, and a lifelong Democrat, said. "The victory in Maine for sound money and law and order is doubly gratifying when we consider that Maine was once carried away by the greenback craze. By her spiendid victory yesterday Maine fully redeemed herself, I cannot but regard the large rajerity for the Republican ticket as a most favorable omen, especially in view of the large agricultural and manufacturing population in that State. It shows clearly that the farmers, the mechanics and the lumbermen are honest and sound on the money question and cannot be led into deliation by misrepresentation and fraud. The Sound Money Democrats of Maine have placed patriotism above partisanship. How any intelligent Democratin an energency like this ordered can for Amarchy, Communism and repudiation as set forth in the Chicago platform, is more than I can understand. I am convinced that the honor and integrity of the country are safe in the hands of the people, for as Vermont and Maine have gone, so will go the Union. With the election of McKinley and Hobbart confidence will be fully restored, and we shall enter upon a prolonged period of prosperity, and with ampie opportunity to effect such reforms in our currency system as the needs of our people warrant and as will be justified by experience and as are in accordance with sound economic views."

MAINE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

IT FAIRLY STUNNED THE POPOCRATIC MANAGERS.

THEIR AMUSING EFFORTS TO EXTRACT A FEW CRUMBS OF COMPORT-REPUBLICANS STIMU-

LATED TO STILL HARDER WORK. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Washington, Sept. 15.-The gloomy deliberations of the Popocratic leaders in Washington were made more gloomy by the news from Maine, and it is now generally agreed that the council was held at a most inopportune time. But the Popo rats were exceedingly hopeful, not to say con their brethren in the Pine Tree State would give a good account of themselves and keep the Republican plurality down to or below 20,000. No longer ago than yesterday such was the secret hope and expectation of all the Popocratic leaders and their followers in Washington, and Chairman Jones said that "anything short of 25,000 for the Republican ticket means a Democratic victory. No wonder that he and his associates were stunned by the news of a Republican plurality of 50,000. Of course as soon as they recovered breath they with one accord, began to explain-for publication but not to one another of in good faith-that the result did not surprise them in the least; that it about what they had experted; that the National Committee had expended little or no effort in Maine, and so on. This kind of talk did not deceive anybody; least of all, the men who inlulged in it. As for the assertion that the National Committee expended no effort in Maine, it is simply absurd. Tons of free-silver literature have been shipped to and distributed in that State within the last few months. Not long ago a member of the Republican Congressional Committee, who was travelling through New-England, was approached on a railway train by a man who was interested in the Democratic campaign in Maine and who mistook him for a member of the he said, "that there is rejoicing in every Democratic Campaign Committee. He proceeded of the country, and that if there were any to give to the Republican a description of Demoeratic plans in the Pine Tree State. He said the taken courage and are now sure of the success of Democrats had arranged to send a free-silver e sound-money ticket. Vermont's majority was "orater" to every school district in the State and larger than any one expected, and now Maine rolls | to make every effort to impregnate the minus of shows clearly that Bryan's doom is senied. If the plan, the Democrats said, had been carried out, chicago candidate had made his appeal to the and great results were expected. The Republican whole people, as other candidates have done before thim, there would be less significance in the Vertelegraphed to Committeeman Manley, of Maine.

Chairman Faulkner of the Democratic Congressional Committee said the result of the Maine election neither surprised nor troubled him. election neither surprised nor troubled him. "It shows what the result in Vermont showel—that the Republicans have made a tremendous effort to call out their reserve vote. It has been done in a State where stay-at-homes are plenty and where the people have not been educated up to the free-silver belief. There is nothing in the result to discourage Democrats. On the contrary, there is good reason way the name should continue campaign work there. why the party should continue campaign work there. The sliver sentiment is growing in the State. The "it's mighty good," said he, "and will go a long way toward restoring confidence. The death knell of Populism has been sounded. While the election was the result, in part, of a spontaneous outburst of the voters of Maine for sound money and integrity, yet it was also due greatly to hard work, which was plainly shown in the tremendous and inusual plurabity. Many people are undecided as to how they will vote at the coming election, and it is my opinion that the result up in Maine will all the cause of sound money materially, especially in the Middle States, which have been termed by it is my opinion that the result up in Maine will be clever poosle as doubtful. "I think that Kansas will vote for gold, and I the platform and candidates were changed from sliver candidate for the Presidency, will cast a materity of voies for McKinley. "Yes," concluded the Mayor, "It was a glorious victory, and I believe that the result in November is assured. I only hope that such victories will not make the Republicans too confident, and so cause them to relax their work."

IN THE DRYGOODS DISTRICT.

The friends of the Mayor in the drygoods district that his opinions and they confidently feelare that there is burdly a Democratic in the district. Sath the circumstances considered, it was quite encour-aging. There was a marked increase in the total Democratic vote and a very considerable increase in the total free-silver vote in that State, where it had Trades McKinley and Hobert Sound Money and in the total free-silver vote in that State, where it had been calimed at the outset there was no silver sentiment whatever. If this ratio of increase should be maintained in all the State, as he believed it would be, the election of Bryan would result with an enormous majority of the popular vote and a large proportion of the State election loves.

Outside of Popucratic headquarters almost everyhody in Washington—If one may judge from the comments heard in the big crowd that scanned the election bulletins last night and in the public foffices, hotels, business houses and other places to-day—realizes and appreciates the true significance of the Maine victory. Upon business men generally the results in that State and in Vermont have produced a strong tonic effect. Among Republicans at the committee headquarters and throughout the city there is rejoicing, tempered by a feeding that this grand victory should stimulate to more carnest zeal and greater effort the Republicans in other States which are still debatable ground and the winning of which is necessary to insure a National victory for sound money in November.

Chairman Babcock, of the Republican Congress Committee, this afternoon gave out the following statement on the Maine cleetion: "The result of the election in Maine will be of very great value to all

Committee, this afternoon gave out the following Committee, this afternoon gave out the following Statement on the Maine election: The result of the election in Maine will be of very great value to all business and financial interests at this time. It will restore confidence in financial circles, not only in this country, but throughout the world. We looked for a large majority in Maine, but hardly expected it to equal the plurality given in 1884, when so many Democrats refused to vote; but it has exceeded that plurality by about 30 per cent, and no one can for a moment doubt that this vote in Maine indicates the sentiment of the great Northwestern States. The States where there are large manufacturing and agricultural interests, the States whose people read and have an intelligent voting population, will, in my opinion, join the procession and follow the lead set by Vermont and Maine. The key of the situation in a campaign is to determine which way the tide is setting. This it is often extremely difficult to do. Two years ago at this time, after the Oregon, Vermont and Maine elections, I recognized and claimed that they were fully borne out by the result in November. This years and stated that I believed that practically settled the contest; and my opinion and predictions were fully borne out by the result in November. This year the majorities in Vermont and Maine are much more pronounced and larger than they were two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one two years ago, and from this I can draw only one

MR. FRANK TAKES HIS COMFORT COLD. Portland, Me., Sept. 15.-Meivin P. The Republeans, taking advantage of the situation committed substantially all their voters to their currency policy before the Lemocrats were reorganized. Considering the condition of the parties, the result was fully as good as could reasonably have been expected, and, in view of the facts, could have little effect on the Na-tional contest.

Portland, Me., Sept. 15 .- Governor Cleaves this orning sent the following to Governor McKinley: Maine is still loyal to her proud motto, 'Dirigo,' and sends to you her warm greetings. The agricultural and commercial communities of our State have emphasized their devolion to the great principles you so ahly represent. Thousands of patriotic Democrats have aided by their ballots in our unprecedented victory for good government and a sound and unvarying currency.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The indersement of Mr. Belden for Congress by the Onondara Democratic Convention was a painful shock to the State machine. It will be remembered that Mr. Belden was nominated against the Hendricks-Hiscock candidate, Mr. Pool, by the McKinley League. He did not want the nomination, and in sisted up to the last moment that young Mages should be nominated instead, but the Anti-Machine leaders insisted upon it, and, notwithstanding his refusal, nominated him. His indersement by the Democrats later on was, according to the statement of his most intimate friends, also contrary to his positive wishes and it was carried after arrangements had been made to nominate amother candidate. Mr. Belden still declines to accept either the nomination or the indorse ment, although it is now conceded that his election will follow his acceptance. Of course, the Platt will follow his acceptance. Of course, the Platt people talk about a deal, but the McKinleyites and the Democrats deny the charge most emphatically. Mr. Magnire, the Democratic Mayor of Syracuse, says there is absolutely no foundation whatever for the malicious report. This is a year, "says the Mayor, "when fusions of political parties are general throughout the United States, and in the event of Mr. Helden's acceptance the fusion will benefit every man of independent mind who believes in leaders and organization, but not in political bosses and machine rule." Believing that no Democrat can be elected at this time. Mr. Magnire thinks it wise on the part of "anti-machine Democrats to Join with Anti-Machine Republicans in the commun cause." In other words, it is a clear-cut fight between the Republican machine and the Anti-Machine forces, with reputable Democrats on the Anti-Machine side. Mr. Reiden's success will assure a Sound Money Frotectionist from the district, and his canvass will aid the National tieket.

V. A. Wilder, of Warwick, writes to The Tribune explaining his course as a delegate to the State Convention at Saratoga. The letter is superfluous. Mr. Wilder's action needs no defence. Those who know him will need no assurance that he was actuated by a sense of duty and of regard for the best interests of the State and of the Republican party, The criticism to which he has been subjected by abject devotees of the State machine is as unjust is it is unworthy. Mr. Wilder was not elected as a muchine delegate, but as a representative of the McKinley League, and with the express understanding that he should act independently of the ma-chine. He was perfectly frank in his attitude, and several of the other delegates chosen at the same time shook hands with him, although opposed to whiler declined to support Mr. Odell, on the ground that the later was an out-and-out machine man, representing the very methods which Mr. Wilder regarded as most demoralizing to the party. There was no obligation, expressed or implied, upon Mr. Wilder to support Odell, and it is gratifying to know that the targe najority of Warwick Republicans approve his resolute declination to yield to the clamor of the machine people. They could not take any other view and be honest or consistent.

Perhaps the most amusing feature of the campaign here is the opposition manifested to Mr. Powderly by Frederick S. Gibbs and Charles W. Hackett. They objected to him first because he declined do with the old State machine, and second because free-silver and free-riot platform on his departure for Europe, now hedges with the plea that both the Republican and the Democratic platforms support Republican and the bemocrate hattoms support bimetallism. This is disingentious. The Republican platform supports the existing gold standard, and that only while the Chicago platform is for silver monometallism. "The Brooklyn Easte" correctly says that bimetallism, as advocated by Judge Gay-nor, "has become a barren ideality, and the free coinage of silver, which the Judge denles he meant o favor in his letter of Saturday, his for repudi-reed of the Bryanarchy and a synonyme for repudi-

Chicago, Sept. 15.—A special from Hoopeston, Ill., says: The enarred remains of four bodies were found yenterfay in the weekings of the burned train at Wellinston. It is known that ten or twelve tramps were on the train, and as twenty-three cars were enveloped in flames simultaneously, it is thought none of them escaped. One body found Friday was identified by a railroad card in his no list as A. D. Henton, of Salina Lodge No. 5, Slater, Mo.

vincennes, Ind., Sept. 15.—A special from Free-andsville, in Knox County, says that almost the attre business portion of that town was destroyed to the tass morning. Besides the business houses, werear residences were burned, leaving many amalies homeless. The origin of the fire is un-whown.

Wabash, Ind., Sept. 15.—G. B. Swetzer, receiver of the Chicago, Inclaim and Eastern Railroad, has topped all trains and indefinitely suspended the relation of the road, which has been running at loss. He has asked for a court order to sell the ohing stock and pay pressing claims.

Jeffersonville, ind., Sept. 15.—The trial of Dr. W. Breyfoxle, of New-Albany, ex-president of the Moton Boad, on enarges of forgery and embezzement in connection with the failure of the New-Albany Banking Company, resulted to-day in a verific of acquittal Several other indictments were continued.

THE IMPROVED WELSBACH LIGHT burns one-half the gas —gives as much illumination as three ordinary gas jets or incandescent electric lights. THE SILVER SENTIMENT DECLINING.

CONGRESSMAN BYNUM SAYS THAT DISTRUST OF THE ALTGELD-TILLMAN CROWD WILL DE-PEAT THE CHICAGO TICKET.

William D. Bynum, chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Democratic party, was at his rooms in the Hoffman House in consultation with a number of prominent Sound Money Democrats for several hours yesterday before he wen over to Brooklyn, where he was to make an address in the evening. It was announced that he will speak at the noonday meeting of the Commercial Travellers' Sound Money League, at Broadway and Prince-st., to-day. As to the Maine election, Con-

"I am somewhat surprised at the result in Maine. I hardly believe however, that any of our Western States will furnish such a complete surprise next November. In fact, while I believe Bryan will be hopelessly beaten, yet the hardest kind of work is necessary to drive the false sentiments for which he stands out of the public mind. It is not to be denied that silver had a tis hold on people all through the Western commity, is equally certain, however, that this sentiment being slowly cradicated, and I think for all time, the of the chief characteristics of the people. realize that Altgeld and Tillman, Stone and that crowd are not to be trusted with the affairs of this country, especially when our relations at home and abroad are not in the best condition. It is this feeling more than anything else that, to my mind, whi contribute largely to the defeat of the Chicago ticket. Our people are getting away from the Fopulstic influences which at one time controlled them. "It is the conservative element that holds the balance of power, and that will make itself felt in the National election."

MR. BYNUM NAMES COMMITTEES.

SENATOR PALMER RETURNS HOME. Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15.—Senator John M. Palmer, candidate for President on the Democratic Na-tional ticket, returned home last night from Louisville, where, on last Saturday, he delivered his speech of acceptance. Mrs. Palmer accompanied speech of acceptance. Mrs. Paimer accompanied the Senator on his trip. When they reached the city they were fatigued by their all-day journey. Senator and Mrs. Paimer were delighted with their trip to Louisville, and expressed regret that they were unable to accompany General Buckner on his tour through the Southern citles. As Senator Palmer has important law duties that demand his attention in Louisville, he will probably leave here for that place in a few days.

POPULISM BITTERLY DENOUNCED. Charleston, S. C., Sept. 15.-W. R. Davis, W. W.

Ball and Frank Evans, who represented this State in the recent Indianapolis Co sued an address to the Sound Money Democrats of South Carolina. The address denounces the Chicage platform as the "unholy wedlock of Democracy with the painted jade of Populism and Com-It says: "Elsewhere in this broad land Communism, Populism and executive tyranny is a dread, a fear; in South Carolina it is an experience." A protest is made against any attack upon the Federal Judiciary, and the free-silver plank of the Chicago platform is denounced as "a purely speculative financial remedy." The address is corded and characterized by great bitter-

HILL AND SMITH AS "QUITTERS." Washington, Sept. 15 (Special).-A New-Jersey Democrat coupled the names of Senators Hill and

Smith together in the following manner to-day: "I am not much surprised at the attitude of either man. There may have been concert between Senators Smith nd Hill as to what their general course should be with reference to the Presidential campaign. Both, by their cowardly abandonment of their party friends and refusal to take sides with anybody, have shorn themselves of all influence for the future. When Senator Smith said he would not be a candidate for re-election I smiled and thought he would never have he chance to be a serious candidate. He is a trimhates a quitter,' it has been well said. I consider that Senator Hill is just as bad as Senator Smith. His Senator Hill is Just as bad as Senator Smith. His long delay in announcing what he favors and what he proposes to do will hurt the parity, of course. But New-York has some other leaders. New-Jersey has looked to Senator Smith for leadership, and he has stayed abroad, shirking his responsibilities, while his parity is failing to pieces. I would not he surprised at any majority which McKiniey and Hobart will receive in New-Jersey—not even 50,000. And yet New-Jersey ought to be considered a Democratic State. When its leaders run away, what can you expect of the Democratic party?"

THE INSULTED DONKEY. From The Minneapolis Journal.

From The Minneapolis Journal.

We were snowbound at Calgary, Northwest Territory, and our party consisted of four drummers, who did their best to kill time until the Canadian Pacific snowploughs would clear the track. Ton Sykes was the life of the party, and proved a never-failing source of wit. We were sitting in the office of the hotel after dinner, and the subject of animals and their peculiarities was being discussed. "Did you notice," said Tom, "how some animals will obey the voice of man as intelligently as a numan being? I have succeeded," said he, "in becoming an expert in that line. I can suggest the most improbable idea to any animal, and it will be carried out to the letter."

A donkey hitched to a cart which contained crockery, glassware, etc., was standing directly in front of the hotel

"Now," said he, "I can go out to that donkey and will tell him to strike a swift gait down the street and he will obey me."

Of course we laughed at the idea, and when Tom offered to go the price of the wine should he fall he was immediately taken up. The driver of the cart had great faith in his animal, and agreed to undertake all responsibility of accidents. Tom slipped a dollar in the man's hand to close the bargain and walked over to the donkey's head.

Raising the right car, he pretended to whisper a few words, but at the same time dropped a few hot ashes from the end of his cigar into the ear, unobserved.

With a grand plunge the infuriated beast bolted.

few words, but at the same time dropped a few hot ashes from the end of his cigar into the ear, unobserved.

With a grand plunge the infuriated beast boited down the street and ran pell-mell into a telegraph pole, bringing a wreck of crockery, etc., to a dead stop on the sidewalk.

The pedler was in a terrible stew, and soon as his fractious donkey was safely in the barn he hunted Tom up and demanded damages.

Tom refused and he went to the Mayor, and Tom was summoned before that dignitary the following morning.

The driver presented his case, and stated that before the defendant had spoken to the animal it had always borne a good reputation; had never been known to run away, and that to the best of his behad always borne a good reputation; had never been known to run away, and that to the best of his behad always borne a good reputation; had never been fluence exerted by the defendant.

The defendant clearly temonstrated to the Court that he had secured the privilege from the plaintiff, who had undertaken the responsibility of possible results. At any rate, the case was dismissed.

As Tom was leaving the courtroom the presiding officer called him back. "Mr. Sykes," said he, "you will pardon me, but I am curicus to know what you said to the donkey, and, while it is not necessary for you to make a statement, the Court would feel gratified if you would favor us." Tom demurred, and stated that it was only of a private nature, and would not prove interesting. The Judge overruled the objection and persisted in his request, "Well," said Tom. "I will tel you. I told the donkey that he was a greater ass than the Mayor of Calgary, and he simply couldn't stand it, Your Honor."

What effect the remarks had upon His Honor we have the would for a Tom had coucluded the whistle

Honor."

What effect the remarks had upon His Honor we never knew, for as Tom had concluded the whistle of a passenger train was heard and we hastened to the hotel for our grips.
